Newsletter #2 - Mar 2021

The HEAT is on...

Starting three [3] clinical trials in one year, requires a lot of effort for a small company - and we are happy with the progress. The first 3 months have been fantastic - apart from being awarded best Nordic IPO earlier this month, we announced the top-line results of the Registry Safety Study and initiated Trial 0204. Many have asked us, when we hear more about the company, and we will soon communicate and advertise more about our progress...we just needed to get it all starting. Thank you for having patience.

Major milestone #2 - Trial 0204 (and soon Trial 0206)

Trial 0204 was initiated earlier this month, and we are very happy with our decisions. Conducting clinical trials is really a lot about preparation, and this has not been that easy during COVID19. However, we anticipate to be done earlier than planned, so hopefully we will close the study in Q2 this year. This would be a fantastic achievement by the teams involved. In addition, we also hope to be ready with Trial 0206 - hopefully we can also initiate this in Q2, the third important milestone of 2021

Milestone #1, the Registry Safety Study - Favourable data

Data from the Registry Safety Study (0203) was announced earlier this month, and indicates a favourable safety-profile for Cessatech's lead product CT001. The primary outcome of the Registry Safety Study has been to investigate adverse events, including serious adverse events for the combination of sufentanil and s-ketamine when administered as a part of routine clinical care. No serious adverse events were reported, confirming a favourable safety profile for this combination. With the intended use of this combination in elective children as well as in emergency cases, safety is perhaps even more pivotal for a successful and efficient outcome

We will intensify the communication about the company and its progress in the coming months and especially in the 2nd half of the year - remember we were capitalized in December 2020. We have been off to a good start and are now ready to increase the communication. Our first company presentation will be on the Nordnet Live platform on 15 April - please see link below. Secondly, we have confirmed a presentation with Økonomisk Ugebrev in October, and more will be announced during the year once they have been confirmed.
